

War Relief.

WHEN it is taken into consideration that 1918 has been the fourth year of the War, we may say that a fair amount of work has been done. We have sent away 2,673 articles.

This Christmas we made no contribution of goods for the Manchester Guardian collection for the Christmas presents for men in the local regiments, but decided to send money instead. The form monitors worked well, and the School rose nobly to the occasion, and a sum of £30 1s. 6d. was sent.

We have still some wool in hand, and as woollen comforts are still required for the Army of Occupation, we should be glad of workers to knit it up.
