Occasional and O.M.A. Notes.

At this time last year it seemed possible that the war might be over before another autumn came upon us, but the end is not yet in sight, though victory for the Allies is assured. When that time comes the School will be found to have taken its full share of the duties and responsibilities imposed on the nation in this terrible struggle; meanwhile the sad task of recording the casualties among O.M.'s must continue. In the present issue we have endeavoured to give a complete list of the names, though in many cases details are postponed for want of space.

We note with pleasure that the H.O.L.C. has over 250 of its members in khaki, and that Private Fred Ingle has been awarded a D.C.M. for attacking single-handed an enemy machine-gunner and capturing the gun. Lance-Corporal H. Tunstall, Manchester Regiment, has been awarded a Military Medal for conspicuous bravery under fire, and attention to the wounded.

Mr. Harold Brighthouse (O.M.) has written another play, "The Clock goes Round," which was produced for the first time at the Globe Theatre, London, on October 4th. Our readers will have learned from the Press criticisms that it is worthy of the author's reputation, and that the scene is no longer in Lancashire, but in the metropolis.

On the day that School re-assembled four captains of the 20th Royal Fusiliers celebrated their second anniversary in the Army. They were Templar, of the A Company, Maxwell, of the C Company, D. S. Hodgson-Jones, of the D Company, and F. Stewart Modera, adjutant. Just two years ago they had their great send-off on the Infirmary flags. The School was not forgotten in their toasts.

The late Alderman John Harrop, who died on September 23rd, was a good friend to the School, for he sent us all his seven sons, lent his bungalow freely to our Windermere campers, and in other ways showed his great regard for it. In 1906, when he was Lord Mayor, he spoke at the Old Boys' dinner.

We have received from Mr. Nicholson a copy of the Watford School Magazine, full of satisfactory news, and announcing that a Spanish class has been formed.

---

Sir E. Donner has had the freedom of the city of Manchester conferred upon him for long and valued services to the community, in which the School must be included, as he has been one of the Governors for many years.

---

Our best congratulations to Mr. Garnett on being appointed to succeed the late Mr. Jackson as head of the Art Department.

No less than 90 boys have gained the senior certificate this year, or in other words, passed the Victoria Matriculation. The list will be found on pp. 182, 183.

Many of our readers will be interested to learn that Lieutenant C. E. Fry, who appeared in the list of wounded a short time ago, was married during the holidays.

The School O.T.C. contingent won the football cup for team of 8 a-side at Ilkley in July last. The scores were 4—0 against Bridlington, 1—0 against Bury, and 3—0 against Liverpool. In the last match Marquis made all the goals.

A memorial window has been put up in St. Chad's Church, Mauldeth Road, Withington, in memory of Second Lieut. Norman Sawers Scott and his brother, Second Lieut. Ian Sawers Scott, who have both been killed in action on the Western Front. The window represents St. Michael in one panel and St. George in the other. Norman Scott was killed on St. George's Day.

It would save a considerable amount of trouble and disappointment if members would recognise that Ulula and communications from the Association are sent to the permanent registered address. It is obviously impossible to make use of the ever-changing service addresses.

As the Report is now in preparation will Sectional Secretaries please send any official matter which they desire to have incorporated to the Acting Hon. General Secretary?

---

Members are reminded that the Annual General Meeting will be held on Friday, November 10th, at the School. Re-union at 6-0 p.m.; business at 7-0 p.m. Dr. Mumford will deliver the address.

---

We publish, at the end of this number, the additional list of O.M.A. members, since the last issue.

Contributions, other than those relating to the O.M.A., will be received by Mr. C. L. Barnes, at the School.

---

N.B.—Will members please note that subscriptions should be paid to Mr. FRED ETCHELLS, Assistant Secretary, at the School, and that changes of address should be notified (also to Mr. ETCHELLS) without delay.

Obituary.

We regret to record the death, on September 9th, of Mr. John Angell, Science Master at the School from 1869 to 1887. He was born in London so long ago as 1824, and came to Manchester in 1852, where he at once began to make science a popular subject, accessible to the masses, as he had previously done in the metropolis. This was his life's work, and by this he will be remembered. He was Headmaster of the Commercial and Science Day School at the Old Mechanics' Institute (the parent of the present School of Technology), and came to the School from there. He retired from active work in 1887, and though latterly a little aged in appearance he retained his vitality in a wonderful manner. When in his 88th year a complimentary dinner was held at the Grand Hotel, at which he reviewed his long career with perfect clearness and admirable judgment, before a large gathering of old friends and pupils. He lay unconscious for two or three days before his death, and passed away quite painlessly. At the funeral at the Southern Cemetery (September 13th) the School was represented by Mr. Francis Jones.

Donald R. McIntyre came to M.G.S. from St. Margaret's School, Whalley Range, in September, 1909. He was on the Modern Side, and left in July, 1911. Fearless and proficient at games, quiet, modest, conscientious and energetic in his work, he would have made as fine a soldier as his brother Peter, who has been reported "missing" for a long time. But at the time of his country's need it was his hard lot to be incapacitated by a long and wearisome illness, which tried his patience sorely at such a time. But he bore up bravely and stoically, and at last the end has come. The race is not always to the swift, nor the battle to the strong.

O.M. Chronicle.

Dr. F. Kelynack has published "Pro Patria."

Mr. F. B. Pidduck has published a book on Electricity (Cambridge University Press). He is now engaged on war work at the National Physical Laboratory.

F. N. Worthington passed final examination and has been granted his Treasury commission as Surveyor of Taxes.

Lieut.-Col. D. C. Leyland Orton, R.A.M.C. (17th Mounted Brigade, F.A.), has passed Part I of the examination for D.P.H., Durham.

Mr. Louis Golding has a poem in the "Balkan News" of April 4th (published at Salonica), entitled "The Shadows Walk, Salonica."

Mr. J. R. Beard, M.Sc., won the £25 premium offered by the Institute of Electrical Engineers for a paper on the "Design of High Pressure Distribution Systems."

R. A. Whittle has won the Ann Hind Exhibition of £35 per annum.

Mr. H. J. Laski has an article on "The Political Theory of Disruption" in the American Political Science Review of August 19th.

W. Ireland, in the examination on H.M.S. Conway, July, 1916, won the Duffryn prize telescope for practical seamanship.

F. J. Marquis, M.Sc., has been appointed to the War Office—a temporary appointment.

C. Simpson, late of Sc. vi., has been appointed Shift Chemist on Nitric Acid plant on H.M. Factory, West Gorton.

Dr. I. L. Kandel has an article on "Educational Tendencies in Germany" in School and Society, July, 1916, and an article on "Political Theory and Education" in Teachers' College Record, May, 1916.

David Riddell, at the Bootham School Swimming Sports, won the furlong race, was third in the Dive, and broke four school records for one length, two lengths, three lengths, and four lengths.

T. L. Agar has a series of articles in the Classical Review on "Homeric Hymns," to be continued into 1917.

Frederick W. Parkin, 21st place, Final examination of the Institute of Bankers.

H. Clement Gray has been appointed Surveyor of Taxes at Leamington Spa.

T. B. Rich has passed the Bankers' Preliminary Examination, with honours in all five subjects. He has also passed the Final in Book-keeping.

Mr. H. Battersby Harford has now been appointed Headmaster of the C.M.S. School at Calcutta. All our best wishes for his success in the responsible work to which he has been called, with all it means for India.

The War.

Correction.—Pte. J. C. Chapman (20), reported killed, in the June number, is missing, and we hope to hear of him again.

---

The services of Major Mumford, Lancashire Fusiliers, have been lent to the Indian Government by the War Office.

Sidney Belcher, Lancashire Royal Fusiliers, who was wounded and was in Wharnccliffe Hospital, Sheffield, is now returning to the front.

Capt. G. N. Clark, writing July 6th, tells us that he is in camp near Osnabrück. The camp consists of twenty large new houses in a pine forest, which were built for a Sanatorium. He is allowed to take walks twice a week, and write two letters and four postcards a month. All new comers are inoculated for cholera. Prisoners pool their books and have a library, run a newspaper, and learn Russian. They receive their parcels, and keep things going busily.

KILLED.

Second Lieut. Wm. Allured, of Willoughby, Urmston, was for three years on the Modern Side. After that he was at the County School, Llandudno, and then won a scholarship at the Worcester Cathedral King's School. There he passed his Preliminary for the Society of Chartered Accountants, and obtained his certificate A in the O.T.C. He was articled, 1912, to Messrs. Ashworth, Mosley & Co. In September, 1914, he joined the Public Schools Battalion; in January the following year he was gazetted Second Lieut., 13th Manchesters. His first active service was on the Suez Canal and in the desert. He was transferred from the Manchesters to the 6th Border Regiment, and went to France early in July. He was killed 14th September, when leading a covering party in an attack on enemy trenches. "He was," says the Colonel, "one of my very best junior officers, who has always done well in all circumstances." He was very popular with all ranks.

Sergt.-Major Robert Blackstock was killed in the attack on Foureaux Wood. He was 35 years of age. He was educated at M.G.S. and enlisted in the 20th Royal Fusiliers, Public School Battalion. He has been acting as Sergt.-Major to Capt. Templar, who writes of him: "During the preliminary bombardment we lay side by side, and he chatted away quite unconcernedly under a perfect canopy of shrapnel. Then at the word 'Go' we went forward together, and he was invaluable in keeping the line, rallying stragglers and generally organising his immediate portion of the attack. It was fine to hear his voice ringing out and giving orders just as if we were on parade. Then we got to our objective and dug in, and he was among the first to go—a shell hit him and he died at once."

Alfred H. Boardman was in his 21st year. He entered the School January, 1908, and was on the Classical Side. On leaving in July, 1910, he joined his father in the wholesale fruit trade. In connection with business he travelled extensively in Holland, Belgium, and the West Indies. He was a keen and successful swimmer. At the outbreak of war he joined the 3rd Battalion Public Schools, Royal Fusiliers. He was wounded in March last. He then returned and was attached to the 8th Gloucester Regiment. Whilst with them he was wounded in action, July 31st, at Bazentin-le-Petit, and died in hospital of the wounds he received. His father lives at Huron House, Seymour Road, Cheetham Hill.

George Edward Burgess came to the School in 1910 from Ardwick Higher Central School, and was on the Modern Side. He was 20 years of age. He was Lance-Sergeant in the Manchester Regiment.

---

Lieut. H. Whittaker Coombs, Northumberland Fusiliers, was a mathematical scholar of C.C.C., Oxford. He took a 1st class in Honour Mods. and 2nd class in the Finals, and was captain of the College cricket team. He came to us from Kingsmead School, Hoylake.

Cyril Crossley was at the School 1905 to 1907, on the Classical side. He enlisted in the Royal Welsh Fusiliers, and got his commission before going out. He took up the Scout movement in Salford. It had grown rapidly and was somewhat chaotic. He undertook all the work of organisation, and besides running his own troop, which was a model to all, and doing the work at the Central Office, he went round helping the others in every possible way. There is not a troop which does not know him, and the poorest troops know him best. A comrade and a leader, he has given himself in death as he gave himself in life.

“ On such sacrifice

Capt. Ferdinand G. Glenday came to us from Brighton College for quite a short time in 1904. After losing his father, he came to live with his uncle, the vicar of Holy Trinity, Bury. The aboriginal campers at Alderley will remember him well. He was the liveliest of comrades in the day-time, and a sepulchral cougher at night. He went from us to St. Bees, and his headmaster writes of him: “ His loyalty, his kindness, his sincere desire for goodness and the happiness of his brother-men—these were very well-known qualities.” He went to Keble College, Oxford, and took honours in Modern History in 1914. He had been previously wounded, and was 24 years of age. His elder brother was killed in France last year.

Second Lieutenant H. C. Clough was killed in action on Tuesday, August 1st. He was the son of Mr. Wm. Clough, of the Education Office, Manchester, and was a scholar of Manchester Grammar School. He passed his Matriculation in 1911, and became a student teacher. He was reading for the Arts degree in Manchester University. His home was 126, Roseneath Road, Urmston. He held a commission in the 14th Manchester Regiment. He was attached to the 18th, and was in the fight at Montauban and at Trônes Wood.

Chas. H. Travers Guest came to us from Leigh Grammar School in September, 1907. He was on the Modern Side, and was in the Upper Fifth when he left in 1911. His father lives at The Elms, Newton-le-Willows. He was articled to Mr. Thos. R. Dootson, Solicitor, of Leigh, and was studying for his Final in Law, when in January last he enlisted in the 29th Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers, but in France was with the 8th Battalion. He was killed in action on July 31st.

Pte. Ronald W. Hill was 22 years of age, and was studying for the Bar in 1914, when he enlisted in the Royal Fusiliers. He had also joined the Manchester Royal College of Music.

Harold Hulme was the son of Mr. Frank Hulme, of Ellesmere Park, Eccles. He was educated at Eccles Grammar School before coming to us. He was on the Modern Side, and passed his Senior School Certificate in July, 1914, for the Upper Transitus. He was a keen harrier, and got his first colours in March of this year. As soon as he was 19 he joined the Public Schools Battalion of the Royal Fusiliers, and was sent out to France after a short training. On July 31st he was wounded in action. His right arm had to be taken off, and at first he seemed to progress favourably, but his injuries were aggravated by gas poisoning, and he died in hospital at Etaples, near Boulogne, on August 25th. The sister-in-charge wrote of him to his father before he died: "You should be proud of such a son, so sweetly good, so obviously pure, so kindly considerate, and so bravely patient." Let those words stand for his epitaph, for they are true.

John Selby Johnstone came to us from the South Manchester School in September, 1903. He was then fourteen years of age.

His parents live at 10, Kingston Road, Didsbury. He had Scottish blood in him and enlisted in the 15th Royal Scots. He was killed in action on the Western Front on the first day of the Great Offensive, July 1st.

Sergeant Sidney Stanfield Kershaw (Loyal North Lancashire Regiment), who was born on March 28th, 1894, was reported killed in action in France on July 4th. He entered the Modern Side of the School on September 14th, 1908, and left July, 1910. After leaving he entered the service of Sir William Bailey as inside draughtsman, and attended the Manchester Technical School, where he was in his fifth year. Since joining the forces, however, he had made notable advancement, and was placed in command of a Lewis gun section in France, after a number of his comrades had paid the supreme sacrifice. It was while he was in charge of these guns that he also fell. He was keen on football. From his early days he had been a member of the Culcheth Sunday School, Newton Heath, where he was very well known and highly respected. He was a lad of high principle, and his actions squared with his principles. He was in consequence well liked by his men. Several of them gave up gambling because he set his face against it. A life like his, short as it was, has not been lived in vain. Nor has he given it up in vain.

Second Lieut. F. Latimer, of the Manchester Regiment, was at the School from April, 1905, to April, 1907. His gifts did not run much in the direction of scholarship, but all at school with him, especially those who camped with him, remember him for his energy and good comradeship, and these are gifts that stood him in good stead in after life. He did not leave his business in any spirit of adventure, but simply and solely because, as he himself wrote on leaving England, he could do no other. He died, so far as we can learn, in "No Man's Land," leading the bombers he had trained, for whom he was so anxious that they should prove their quality and do well. Only one officer with 20 men were left out of 160 after the charge.

Francis Stuart Long, too, has added his name to our long Roll of Honour. He was the son of the Vicar of Weaverham. His former class-mates and his old Form Masters will always remember him for his keenness in all matters relating to mechanical engineering. He seemed to have been born with the love and knowledge of engines; and to meet him on the station platform while waiting for his train, and ask him a question or two about the locomotive was to discover where his interest lay, and to see how clearly Nature had marked out the line of his future career. Circumstances, fortunately, enabled him to follow his natural bent, and he was in the office of his uncle at Preston when the war broke out.

One of his schoolmasters writes:—"We have nothing but happy memories of him here. He was very dutiful. He always met one with a glad look in the morning; his eye was single, his whole nature was full of light. I feel sure he has died a death which he was prepared to meet, and from which he did not shrink."

Second Lieut. Gilbert Lye, Manchester Regiment, killed 21st July, 1916. His father was the manager of John Bright's mill at Rochdale. He went from us to Rossall. He was a great lover of Nature, and did much for our Museum, when it first started, as voluntary Curator. He enlisted in the Public School Battalion in September, 1914.

"It is now more than twelve years since I worked with Gilbert Lye in First Form Preparatory at M.G.S., but I have a very vivid recollection of him. He was, to my mind, the typical gentleman, as gentle as a woman and as manly as a man. I have no memories of any outstanding deeds. He was one of those 'still waters that run deep.'"—One-time Form Master of F.F.P.

Second Lieut. Leslie Milbourne died of wounds on July 10th in hospital at Boulogne. He matriculated while at the School, and entered the University, where he was studying commerce, and took the B.Com. degree. He enlisted in the 20th Bn. R.F. and received a commission in the 7th Battalion Loyal North Lancs. Regiment. He was shot through the face and neck in a recent attack.

Chas. F. Tempest Price, of the 16th Manchesters, was killed in action on 15th June. He was 23 years of age, and the son of the late Mr. John F. Price, County Coroner. He came to us from the Prior School, Malvern, and was on the Classical Side. After leaving us he was articled to Mr. Browning, Town Clerk of Hyde. He joined the 1st Battalion of the "Pals" and was in Heaton Park for his training. His Captain, Wilfrid Elstob, whom we know well at M.G.S., writes: "Eric Price was killed whilst on sentry duty in the trenches. I was standing by his side, and he practically fell into my arms. He was instantly killed by a bullet through the head, and fell backwards dead without a murmur. I have only been commanding this Company a very short time, but I had learnt to know that Eric Price was one of the very best men under my command."

Pte. Harold Proudfoot, "missing, believed killed," is regretfully placed in the latter category. He was at the School from 1907 to 1910, on the Modern side, and worked most energetically at the levelling of the North Manchester field. He enlisted in the Public School Battalion, 20th R.F.

Pte. Frank Stott, 20th R.F.—In a letter to Mr. Derham, of the Y.M.C.A., a comrade writes: "The limitations of the Censorship do not permit of the full story of his end, thus robbing him in part of his glory, for he died as he lived—courageously, bravely, cheerfully,—a man. The Battalion was met by a situation of grave danger, an event which called upon the last limit of their courage and fortitude—hand-to-hand work with cold steel at the finish. "Stottie" took his share leading and encouraging. After the initial struggle he stayed behind to assist some men who had been buried in a fall of earth thrown up by an explosion. Whilst engaged on this work he was struck by a portion of a "Minenwerfer" just below the heart, and three hours later he died. He died a soldier and a gentleman."

WOUNDED.

Second Lieut. T. S. Archer has been wounded in the ear, and invalided out.

Capt. F. A. Bearn, M.C., as we must now call him, has been wounded in the right arm.

---

Pte. Arthur B. Brown, 20th R.F., was reported wounded and missing after the engagement in Foureaux Wood. After five weeks a letter dated August 6th has come through from him. He is a prisoner at Ohrdruf in Thuringia, and well on the way to recovery. The bullet entered above the heart and pierced the left lung.

---

Capt. R. Chambley, 7th West Riding Regt., has been invalided home with rheumatism. He was mentioned in a despatch of June 3rd last.

---

The Rev. Donald Collier is suffering from enteric.

Second Lieut. Brian Conway was hit four times, the only serious wound being in the knee-cap.

Lieut. A. G. N. Dixey, wounded September 3rd, is now in the 2nd Red Cross Hospital, Rouen, with wounds in chest and back. He was wounded on 1st July in the great push, when he led the Company into action and stormed German trenches and consolidated the position. The Company lost very heavily, and Lieut. Dixey was wounded in the head, but remained on duty.

Pte. Norman H. Dixon was wounded so long ago as October, 1915, but the intimation is only just to hand.

---

Second Lieut. Geo. Ferns has been "gassed."

Roy Glenday, wounded in East Africa, has lost his right arm.

Second Lieut. Arthur Hancock, 11th Cheshire Regiment, wounded, went straight from School into the Army in August, 1914, and was given a commission.

Lieut. Frank Howarth, of the 10th Bn. Manchester Regiment, whose home is the Post Office, Newton Heath, is in hospital at Port Said, suffering from dysentery. He is progressing satisfactorily.

---

Pte. George H. Johns, 9th R.F., wounded, obtained the senior certificate while at School and won his cricket colours.

Second Lieut. E. C. Masterson, 9th Lancashire Fusiliers, is in the Military Hospital, High Street, C.-on-M., with a badly fractured arm.

---

Pte. W. D. Shearer, severely wounded in the thigh; in hospital at Glasgow.

---

Pte. Fritz Shepherd, R.F., was wounded on July 22nd, in France.

Second Lieut. J. S. Stiebel, Manchester Regiment, is lying wounded in Netley Hospital. He was invalided home from the Dardanelles last year with dysentery.

---

Lieut. H. N. Stokoe was wounded in the head on July 8th at La Boisselle. His promotion dates from May last.

Lieut. S. Watts, 20th Manchester Regt., was wounded on September 1st. He was a Classical Scholar of C.C.C., Oxford.

---

Pte. D. G. Whittaker, R.F., has been wounded for the second time, on July 18th, and is in a Welsh hospital.

Natural History Society.

The Natural History Society opened the session on Wednesday, September 27th. Mr. Willis began with a most interesting and lucid account of the dispersion of seeds. He illustrated his lecture with lantern slides, though the lantern tried, but failed, to mar our pleasure by refusing to work at intervals. We have every prospect of a good season this year, and new boys should not lose the opportunity of joining the Society. Details may be seen on the Notice Board. On October 25th the Captain of the School, J. E. Haygarth, will give a paper on "Crabs," and we trust he will be well supported. Further excellent papers will follow at fortnightly intervals, and will be announced later.

Pershore Camp.

By the kindness of Mr. Knight, we encamped upon the banks of the Avon, less than a score of miles from immortal Stratford. Every day—the more diligent many times a day—we bathed in the stream, and came out physically and mentally refreshed. The result was an extraordinary outcrop of Shakespearian quotation, gallantly led by Mr. Cox. For the first fortnight we were Arcadians; work was dubious and the weather ideal. Then the élite went on a pilgrimage to Stratford, but after that, when the farmers of Pershore had judged our character, and found out our moral worth, steady orders for plum pickers poured in. From that time no one was idle. The plums at first were green, sour, and uneatable, but ripened satisfactorily later. We worked three to a tree, two upon long ladders at each side, and one to do the groundwork, with a small "safety-ladder," on a lucus a non lucendo principle. The so-called safety ladder is built like a step-ladder, with one support only. It is wide at the base and narrows quickly. Stand upon one side of the ladder, and the support will glide to the other. The ladder falls and you are left hanging to a bough, which invariably splits to the tree-roots. Our pay was that of a regular agricultural labourer, 5d. for 72 lbs.; we worked eight hours a day if the weather allowed.

At the end of the third week the majority left, Wragg desolated to think that he could not keep his record of work unapproached. The eleven who remained for nine more days to finish the orchard worked harder and faster than ever. One set of three, led by the indefatigable Mitchell, picked almost a ton of plums in a day.

While at camp we paid two visits to the neighbouring M.G.S. scout camp at Cheltenham, and they returned them. Their story roused great envy, for they appear to have worked less for higher wages; they beat us hopelessly, too, at podex, though when we challenged them at football they prudently declined. On August 24th we returned home in a most disreputable state, and escorted the camp luggage to school. There we divided some egg plums, the gift of Mr. Mumford, one of our employers. We thanked him, and, the good folk of the Cemetery, who provided us with water, but, above all, Mr. Geoffrey Hooper, who took care of us on our arrival, and showed us great kindness throughout. To Mr. Green, Mr. Cox, and Mr. Heathcote we also owe much; by their labours, encouragement, and cheerfulness they helped to make the happiest and most successful of camps, and we are pleased to know that our employers were entirely satisfied. Mr. Mumford told us how well we did; Mr. Whiteley compared us most favourably with the women labourers he had employed, while Mr. Hooper wrote, "I am so much obliged for the help you have given us. I consider the boys stuck to work very well indeed."

O.T.C. Camp, Ilkley.

The railway journey to Camp was remarkable for nothing except the hilarity of several of our cadets and a very long wait at Leeds. Arriving at the camping ground we found that our tents were not yet up, and the M.G.S. camping experience stood us in good stead. We soon got into the swing, for the first night we had to mount the battalion guard. The second day saw us already started on our training, the contingent providing Nos. 5 and 6 platoons of "B" Company. We were fortunate in having as our company commander Captain Hood, of the Nottingham contingent. Every morning was spent on the moors, and much useful work was done, our scouts coming in for praise from the battalion commander. The weather was perfect during the whole of the camp, and the bathing was excellent. Camp was, however, saddened by the death by drowning of one of the Nottingham cadets. On the last day the Battalion route-marched to Bolton Abbey, which was six miles distant. The last few nights were somewhat disturbed by rumours of an attack from some Imperial Yeomanry cadets who were camping near, but we were doomed to disappointment. We hear on good authority that a certain sergeant laid hold of a "Crosse," and a certain corporal some carving-forks, as defensive weapons.

Inter-contingents football matches were arranged in which the M.G.S. team distinguished itself, and was presented—much to everyone's surprise—with a silver cup on the last night. Several good sing-songs were held, and were much appreciated. The townsfolk, with vivid memories of the visit and idiosyncracies of the Senior Division, O.T.C. a year or two ago, were somewhat disappointed (?) when there was no ragging on the eve of our departure. The day of leaving is memorable for two reasons—a great deal of hard work, and an abundance of jam! However, the work came to an end at last, the jam was consumed, and our train brought us back to Manchester.

As is usual, the humorists of the camp found good scope for their efforts, the chief victim being the commissariat. Even the Battalion Q.M.S. was not above reproach in this matter of humour—he, on one occasion, issued five tins of fruit for every seven tents. The battle that ensued will not be recorded in the history of the present war. A complaint was once made that the tea was curious.

Altogether we had a glorious time, and the thanks of all are due to Capt. Spivey, of the Bury contingent, to whose hard work the success of the camp is to be ascribed, and to the Adjutant, Lieut. Dann, who so ably seconded him.

Stoke Rockford Camp.

We were Mr. Christopher Turnor's guests. We camped in his park and had free run on wet days of his hall, with all its art treasures. He found us work and pay, and made all things smooth. Harvest was late, so we did a good deal of work at first on timber; we also hoed a field where each individual turnip seemed a Laocoon struggling against a snakery of weeds. T. R. Chatfield was adjutant, and he, with a committee—R. Harrop, E. E. Watson, and E. Bridgford—ran the show, bound up our wounds, and maintained the Wellsian tradition of liquorice powder.

Scouting.

THE INTER-TROOP COMPETITION.

Winners.—Troop 2 (25 scouts), 120 points (general scouting, 100; football, 10; swimming, 10). Troop 1 (51 scouts), 110 points (general scouting, 90; football, 5; swimming, 15). Troop 3 (30 scouts), 102 points (general scouting, 82; football, 15; swimming, 5). Troop 4 (32 scouts), 48 points (general scouting 48).

Three King's Scout badges have been won this year:—P. L. Nuttall, Troop 1; P. L. Jackson, Troop 2; Sec. Houldsworth, Troop 2.

The Scoutmasters and scouts wish to thank the following instructors and examiners:—Mr. Bruton (who is responsible for 99 badges this year), Mr. Ogden, Dr. Mumford, Mr. Green, Mr. Parrott, Mr. Newbould, Mr. Twentyman, and, lastly, Sergeant Handley and Corporal J. S. Clegg, who, with Privates Whittle and Watson, carried out the signalling examination very admirably.

Chess Club.

The season 1915-16 has shown an advance of no less than 75 per cent. in the membership, as compared with the last three years. Unfortunately, the team has not come up to its usual high standard. This is mainly due to the enlistment of some of our best players, and also to the little support that we have received from the Old Mancunians, arising from the same cause. However we ought to thank Mr. Shubsachs and Mr. Holland for the help they have given us. Seven committee meetings have been called and well attended.

Four inside tournaments were held:—(1) "Sliding Odds" Competition, won by Mr. Rubinstein; (2) "Sides" Competition, carried off by the Science Side; (3) "Chess Championship," won by R. A. Whittle, Math. vi.; (4) "Draughts Championship," won by N. H. Snaith, Math. vi.

It is regrettable that there is still some lack of interest in the Club. A certain number of boys in the Upper School who can play Chess quite well have not joined, although a great many juniors have become members. Altogether it may be said that as far as the inner life of the Club is concerned, good progress has been made under rather trying circumstances.

The annual meeting was held on Tuesday, September 26th. Mr. Willis was in the chair, and twenty other members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were passed without comment, and after certain alterations the secretary's report was also passed. The treasurer's report, which showed a balance of 5/11, was provisionally passed till it could be audited. The officers were then elected:—President, Mr. Willis; Vice-Presidents, Mr. Chevalier, Mr. Jones, N. H. Snaith, Math. vi.; Secretary, E. A. Livy, Sc. vi.; Treasurer, C. E. Thompson, Sc. Tr.; Curators, G. S. Ranshaw, Sc. vi., F. W. Walton, M.T.A.

It was decided that the Club should run one team, and this in the "C" League of the Manchester and District Chess Association. Four competitions are to be held: the "Sliding Odds," Chess, Draughts, and the Inter-Sides Competitions.

All new boys wishing to join the Club should see the Secretary (E. A. Levy, Sc. vi.) or any of the Committee.

REVIEW OF THE SEASON, 1916.

	Played	Won	Drawn	Abandoned	Lost
First Team .....	18	11	2	1	4
Second Team .....	14	7	2	1	4
Third Team .....	13	11	0	1	1
Fourth Team .....	13	11	1	0	1
"Under 14" Team ...	14	9	0	1	4

A season of more than average success, towards which, as the above figures show, each team has contributed a greater share than usual.

To be reduced to but two colours at the beginning of a season and, in addition, to be compelled to fill in the other places on the school team from the remaining members of a moderate second team and the best players of a previous season's third team—these facts augured, at the most, a season of but average success, and it seemed as if the augury was going to be fulfilled when we started by losing the first two matches, versus St. Bede's and Unsworth C.C. Consequently it speaks well for the keenness of the members, and more especially of the new-comers, that the team should win eleven of the remaining fifteen matches. For the greater part of this success we have to thank our bowlers. Contrary to the usual order of things, the bowling this season has been stronger than the batting. The brunt of it has fallen to Marquis and Harrison, and the amount of success with which they have met is shown by the fact that both have an average of less than six—the former for 46 wickets, and the latter for 64. In addition, however, we have been fortunate in possessing five or six good change bowlers, who have proved their value on the few occasions on which the opening bowlers have been unable to account for the whole of our opponent's team. To estimate the success of our bowlers from another point of view—on four occasions only have our opponents topped the hundred mark, and in six matches they have failed to reach the half century. As previously stated, the batting has not been good. We have had three or four people of promise, but with the exception of Harrison and Jackson, the batsmen have, at their best, been little more than mediocre. The fielding has been good, several of the team being quite smart. Altogether a keen and harmonious team with which it has been a pleasure to work.

On paper it would look as if the second team had not especially distinguished itself. But if we remember that this team meets the first teams of neighbouring schools, a record of but four losses in fourteen matches appears highly satisfactory, and one which would have been even better if the team had been able to attend at the nets more regularly. Briefly the batting has been promising, the bowling good, the fielding moderate.

As the figures show, the third and fourth teams have been most successful. Both have been very keen, although since Whitsuntide attendance at the nets has fallen off somewhat. The former has been an especially happy combination, whilst the record of the latter is all the better since the composition of the team has probably not been the same in any two consecutive matches. A keen "Under 14" team is certainly not a novelty, and the success of this team during the past season must be ascribed chiefly to this characteristic, together with the able captaincy of Lowe.

In the above no mention is made of what is perhaps the chief cause of our success—the advice and assistance which the masters have constantly given us. Mr. Hartley has again taken charge of the first and second teams, and few fully realise all that means to us; and we have to thank Mr. Griffiths for the evenings he has spent at the Cliff coaching us. The result of Mr. Heathcote's tuition of the third and fourth teams can be estimated from the figures given for those teams. Mr. Green's control of the "Under 14" team has, as usual, put many young cricketers on the right road to proficiency; and Mr. Heywood's assistance at Levenshulme on Saturday mornings has proved of benefit to many aspirants for positions on the school teams. We thank these masters most heartily for the trouble they have taken, and the time they have spent with us; and we are most grateful to Snaith and B. G. Wood, the scorers, and to Robertson and Mumford, the umpires, who have been most faithful in their services throughout the season.

The value of the prizes was again given to the Red Cross Society. J.K.

CHARACTERS OF THE TEAM.

1 *A. C. RADCLIFFE.—Has not realized the promise of last year. Does not bat freely enough. A change bowler with a useful swerve, but should pay more attention to length. As secretary he has willingly performed all he has been asked to do.

- 2 †F. MARQUIS.—A very promising fast bowler, who has done exceedingly well this season. A forceful bat, with a good style, but should exercise more judgment. A smart fielder. Our best wishes for next season go to him.
- 3 †G. F. S. JACKSON.—Has improved considerably since the beginning of the season. A good bat, driving especially well. Usually makes his runs when others fail. A useful change bowler, breaking both ways, and varying his pace judiciously. A reliable field; throwing-in especially good. At the nets has usually distinguished himself by his absence.
- †R. E. RIPPON.—A pleasing, forceful batsman. Good change bowler, but should use his head more. Has improved since last season. Ground fielding poor.
- †A. DEAN.—Bats with a good style, but should show more discretion. A successful change bowler, especially sound as regards length, although he might do better if he "mixed" his bowling more. Has proved himself exceptionally keen, both on and off the field.
- †T. H. BOWDEN.—Settled down well since he joined the team at Whitsuntide. Has given some very good displays behind the wickets; could always be relied upon in case of need, but otherwise is somewhat inconsistent. A good batsman with a free style.
- †A. J. B. ORR.—Rather a crude bat, who should make more use of his efficiency in the "swings." A keen field. Has put in a good attendance at the nets. Our best wishes go to him in the bigger game.
- J. HARRISON.—Should keep his appointments, even in cricket. Undoubtedly the best all-round man on the team. A forceful bat, with a very good stance, he scores with equal ease all round the wicket. With Marquis, he has efficiently borne the brunt of the bowling. A really smart fielder.
- P. J. C. THORNLEY.—A free batsman who has done better as the season went on. A good change bowler, but somewhat inclined to under pitch. Ground fielding weak. Net attendance none too good.
- R. H. G. GARSIDE.—A useful left-hand change bowler. Should eradicate a tendency to bowl too much on the leg side. A fair bat and fielder.
J. K.
- *J. KENYON.—A captain keen and untiring under all circumstances alike. A bat with a very sound defence; after the first few matches made some good scores. Excellent in the field.

Football.

Owing to the claims of the O.T.C. on many of the older boys, it is feared that the teams this year will not be as strong as usual. Thus on the younger boys to a large extent will fall the task of keeping up the usual high standard of football. At present there are five school elevens, including the "under 14" team. New boys who are desirous of playing regularly should attend the Saturday morning games, either at the Cliff or at Fallow field, as it is only by so doing that they have any chance of obtaining a place in one of the teams. It is hoped that boys will try and make this season at least as successful, if not more so, than the previous one.

SCHOOL v. MASTERS.

At the Cliff, Saturday, September 30th. In this, the opening game of the season, we were opposed by a strong team made up of Masters and Old Boys. School lost the toss, and played towards the river. The Masters attacked right from the beginning, but School were saved by the fine work of the halves. Our forwards, however, could not settle down, most of the attempts never getting beyond the Masters' half-back line. Austin, on the left, was playing very well, and from one of his centres Flowers gave us the lead. No further goals came from our occasional dashes into the Masters' goal, and it was not long before they equalised through Schneider, following a melee in front of goal. In fact, it was only the good play of the backs and of Thornley in goal that prevented them taking the lead. Half-time score: School, 1; Masters, 1. On resuming, the Masters' forwards attacked in determined fashion, and soon met with success, their centre scoring after 15 minutes. They had most of the play until our forwards once more began to shew a little more dash. Their backs broke up most of our attacks, and it was not until late in the game that Marquis made the scores equal. The teams now became very excited, and through over keenness spoiled much good play. Haygarth was keeping a very good goal for the Masters, repeatedly saving shots from all the forwards. Right up to the end the interest was maintained, Austin narrowly missing with a lovely cross shot. Time came with the score unaltered. A draw was a fitting result, though great praise is due to the defence, for the splendid way in which they held the Masters' forwards. Result:—

School, 2; Masters, 2.

Team.—Thornley; Evans and Frosch; Kirsop, Jones and Blake; Flowers, Rowbotham, Marquis, Dodson and Austin.

Harriers.

September 16th.—The season was opened by a run from Broom Hall, Irlams-o'-th'-Height, the headquarters of No. 1 Scout Troop. The day was exceedingly hot, which made the run rather fatiguing. No one, of course, indulged in any serious attempts at Marathon-running—

“Some walked and some did run,
Some loitered by the way”— and the pack arrived in rather a disjointed condition. The hares were C. Green (O.M.), Plant (O.M.), H. J. Gmelin and R. Entwistle.

September 23rd.—This run was from the Cliff. The hares, C. Green (O.M.) and Standing, were given a purely nominal start and were in sight for the first two miles. However, by crossing the Irwell (there about two feet deep and quite innocuous), they baulked most of their pursuers, who, finding no Charon available for the negotiation of this Styx, made their way round by Thirteen Arches. The hares, joined by Brown (Sc. vi.) and H. Pickles, returned to the Cliff at a leisurely pace, by Drinkwater and Kersa Moor.

September 30th.—Sale High School. The hares were G. Lloyd and Pratt, and the run over which we followed them would have been quite enjoyable had not a scarcity of paper rendered the trail rather disconnected. Nevertheless, we picked it up again after each mistake. The run included a finish along the towpath of the Bridgwater Canal, from Timperley Station to Brooklands.

WHY THE NATIONS ARE AT WAR

THE CAUSES AND ISSUES OF THE GREAT CONFLICT

By CHARLES MORRIS & LAWRENCE H. DAWSON

Profusely Illustrated with Maps and Illustrations. Size  $9\frac{1}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{2}$  in., 480 pages, 5s. net.

A Graphic Story of the Nations Involved, their History and Former Wars, their Rulers and Leaders, their Armies and Navies, their Resources, the Reasons for Conflict, and the Issues at Stake.

This book gives an extremely interesting review of the History of Europe since the French Revolution of 1789, especially in relation to the political developments which have led to the Great War.

THE SOLDIER'S WORD AND PHRASE BOOK.

In English, French, and German. Pocket size, oblong,  $5 \times 3\frac{1}{2}$  in., 96 pages. Waterproof binding, 6d. net; limp leather, 1/- net.

This valuable little book has been built up through actual experience with soldiers in the classroom by a small Committee of Modern Language experts. The pronunciation of every word is given and also a full alphabetical vocabulary.

A HISTORY OF THE ANCIENT WORLD.

By HUTTON WEBSTER, Professor in the University of Nebraska. Edited for use in English Schools by J. B. CHAPMAN, M.A. 230 Illustrations and 55 Maps. Demy 8vo, 704 pages, 6/- net.

The author has made a new and original arrangement of the material of Ancient History. The point of view is that of human life. The social, industrial, and commercial life of the Ancients is given with exceptional fullness. Their art, literature, and religion are not neglected, while political events and constitutional development receive all needed attention. The results of modern archæo-logical discoveries are fully treated. An attractive feature is the series of character-sketches of leading personages.
